Andrew Goodman Foundation

The Center for Civic Engagement (CCE) is currently recruiting a "Vote Everywhere Ambassador" for the 2014-2015 academic year. The Vote Everywhere Ambassador is a year long paid internship (stipend plus a programming allowance) in partnership with the CCE and The Andrew Goodman Foundation that requires participating, connecting and engaging with others on campus and in the community to form coalitions for change. Vote Everywhere (VE) is a unique initiative, which carries on the legacy of the civil rights movement and is inspired by the work of Andrew Goodman—a sophomore at Queens College, who was murdered along with James Chaney and Michael Schwerner during Freedom Summer 1964 while attempting to register African-Americans to vote. VE thus empowers a national community of campus leaders to mobilize others to act on issues of importance using their votes, voices and networks. In addition to the stipend, the Ambassador will receive training from national experts in civic engagement, engage with a supportive "e-mentor", and will be expected to work 8-10 hours per week. The CCE is now recruiting a student intern who would be willing to assist in coordinating end-of-year resource drives in the residence halls. Often, when students leave campus, they also either leave behind or throw away unwanted clothing, food, household items, etc. CCE is working with ResLife to ensure that these items are donated to local people who need them (instead of the landfills). This 8hr/week volunteer position will require someone who is organized, motivated, team-oriented, and an excellent communicator. Email the CCE to indicate your interest and include a recent resume.
