HireBing in your recruiting efforts to post jobs, internships, register for our job and internship fairs and sign-up for on-campus recruiting and employer information sessions.

Manage your account
Edit your contact info and change your password.

Complete the organizational profile
Students and alumni want to know as much as possible about your organization. Complete your organization profile fully by including Facebook and Twitter links and a logo. Review and update your information regularly. Recruit both undergraduate and graduate students by specific class years and majors.

Search Résumés
View student résumés through the Résumé Book feature in HireBing, and connect with students who fit your recruiting criteria. To access résumés, simply click “Résumés,” then “Résumé Books.” Click on the résumé book you would like to access. View student résumés individually or generate a pdf file by clicking on “generate book.”

Interview on campus
Request and manage on-campus interviews. We’ll promote your opportunity, provide résumés, schedule interviews and reserve a room at no cost.

Virtual interviews
Our employer interview suite is equipped with state-of-the-art technology to interview students and alumni remotely. Reserve an interview room for phone or Skype interviews just as you would an in-person visit.

Post jobs and internships
List full-time, part-time or internship positions for free on our online job and internship search portal, hireBing (part of the NACElink Network). You may also post your opportunity to multiple NACElink institutions for a nominal fee.

Attend career fairs
Employers who attend our career fairs are the best known by Binghamton students. These centralized events are a great opportunity to promote internships and full-time jobs while making face-to-face connections.

Offer an information session
Employer information sessions help raise student awareness about your organization and its opportunities. There is no fee to host an information session at Binghamton University.

PARTICIPATE IN PROGRAMS
The Fleishman Center values and invites outside organizations to assist us in student career development programs such as mock interviews, résumé reviews, interviewing, job search and networking.

People around the world are learning what New Yorkers have known for decades: Binghamton University is one of America’s premier public universities.

A world-class institution, Binghamton University offers students a broad, interdisciplinary education with an international perspective and one of the most vibrant research programs in the nation.

Ranked among the elite public universities in the country, Binghamton challenges students academically in its unique, best-of-both-worlds environment. Our academic culture rivals a first-rate private university - rigorous, collaborative and boldly innovative - while our campus culture exemplifies the best kind of public university experience: richly diverse students, an active social life and deep engagement with the community.

Binghamton students are truly prepared to meet the needs of the working world.

BUSINESS

School of Management is ranked among the elite business programs in the nation. Bloomberg Businessweek’s 2015 ratings rank the school 23rd among all U.S. public business schools, while employers rank the school 39th out of all business schools in the country, based solely on candidate quality. With emphases in accounting, leadership, marketing, supply chain management, finance and management information systems, the School of Management offers bachelor’s, MBA, Executive MBA, MS Accounting and PhD programs.

EDUCATION

Graduate School of Education awards master’s degrees in childhood, adolescence, literacy, special education and educational studies, as well as certificates of advanced study in educational leadership and doctoral degrees in educational theory and practice. Faculty and students partner with local school districts on a wide variety of projects that place graduate students in an enriching environment to take their teaching careers to the next level.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

College of Community and Public Affairs prepares students to work with individuals, groups, families, communities and organizations for the public good by offering an undergraduate pre-professional degree in human development, graduate study in public administration, social work and student affairs administration, and a newly established PhD program in Community and Public Affairs.

NURSING

Decker School of Nursing is committed to training highly capable nurses by providing an outstanding educational program from the baccalaureate to the PhD level. The school prides itself on both the quality and the quantity of its clinical practice experiences that are seen as the foundation for our graduates’ high levels of success. Graduates have assumed leadership roles in practice, education and administration throughout the nation.

ENGINEERING

Ranked among the top engineering schools by Princeton Review, the Thomas J. Watson School of Engineering and Applied Science offers bachelor’s, master’s and doctoral programs with degrees in biomedical engineering, computer science, electrical and computer engineering, mechanical engineering, and systems science and industrial engineering. With twice the national average of industry-sponsored research and engagement in mutually beneficial research collaborations, graduates are well-prepared to impact a world that is continually shaped by new technologies and economic globalization.

ARTS AND SCIENCES

Harpur College of Arts and Sciences offers an outstanding liberal arts education in a leading-edge, research-university environment. With three divisions – fine arts and humanities, science and mathematics, and social sciences – Harpur is dedicated to excellence in general education that develops students’ abilities to think critically and communicate well.

Continuing to grow
The University is establishing a School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences and expects to welcome its first cohort of students in August 2017, pending precandidate status from the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education. Graduates will help find solutions to addiction and disease, develop more-effective drug-delivery mechanisms and improve health systems efficiencies.
