At Elmcrest, we subscribe to the following values in ourselves, our programs, our organization, and all with whom we do business:

Honesty

Being honest requires far more than knowing truth from fiction or right from wrong. The person who is honest with himself/herself and others bears the responsibility of truth. They are accountable and open to the truth. The honest person is trustworthy and has integrity.

Willingness to Learn

Being willing to learn is a humbling attribute which acknowledges that one does not have all of the answers but understands that the ongoing pursuit of knowledge is critical to success and growth. A person who is willing to learn is open to change, is flexible, and is adaptable.

A summer camp job like no other.

Stomping Ground is an overnight camp founded by a couple of proud millennials. After graduating from college Laura and I wanted to see the country and learn how to make kids lives better. We traveled for 3 years and over 80,000 miles criss-crossing the US and Canada, in our old Honda Civic, searching for the best ideas in youth development and summer camp. What we thought would be a 3 month trip turned in to 3 years and over 100 summer camps.

After the trip, we came home to New York to start our own camp with a couple of guiding principles. People are people so let’s treat them the way they want to be treated, more is possible, and stay curious. We would love for you to join our community this summer. We will have the best time trusting and playing ...
