TRANSFERABLE SKILLS

As you begin your job search or consider careers that would be right for you, it is important to know what you are good at and what you enjoy doing. Over the years, you have developed many skills from coursework, extracurricular activities, internships, jobs and your total life experiences. If you’ve researched, written, edited and presented papers for classes, you’ve used skills that are not limited to any one academic discipline or knowledge area but are transferable to many occupations. A prospective employer expects you to apply the skills you have learned through your studies, work, and life experiences to the work environment.

What Skills and Qualities are Important to Employers?

According to the 2016 National Association of Colleges and Employers (NACE) Job Outlook Survey, the top 10 qualities/skills employers seek are transferable skills:

1. Leadership
2. Ability to work in a team
3. Written communication skills
4. Problem-solving skills
5. Verbal communication skills
6. Strong work ethic
7. Initiative
8. Analytical/quantitative skills
9. Flexibility/adaptability
10. Technical skills

Which of the top ten skills do you excel in? Where have you developed these skills? How might you articulate these skills to employers? How can you develop them further?

Take Stock of Your Transferable Skills

Review the lists in the following 5 categories and underline all the skills you have. Then go back and circle the 10 underlined skills you would enjoy using most. Write these top 10 skills in the spaces provided under “Ten Most Preferred Skills” and write a brief example of how you have demonstrated each skill in a job, class, internship, or extracurricular activity. This will help as you consider career options and as you prepare for your job or internship search and interviews.
