Human Migrations And Borders
A Conversation in the Disciplines Symposium

@ The Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities (IASH)
Library North 1106

Binghamton University

November 13-14, 2015
Friday, November 13, 2015

12:30p – Registration

1:00p - Introduction

1:10p-3:00p - Panel I
Manas K Chatterji, School of Management, Binghamton
Migration and Global Diaspora
James Shuford, Anthropology, Albany
The Boundaries of Belonging: Immigration, Agricultural, and Healthcare in The Hudson Valley
Ana Maria Candela, Sociology, Binghamton
Bradley Walker Hutchison, History, Binghamton
The People of al-Daad: Transnationalism in the Arab-American Press, 1930-1955

3:00p-3:20p - Break

3:20p-4:50p - Panel II
Julia Walker, Art History, Binghamton
Looking East: OMA's Apartments at Checkpoint Charlie
Sevinç Türkkan, Comparative Literature and Translation Studies, Binghamton
Archive, Memory, and Agency: Güneli Gün's The Book of Trances (1979)
Tiantian Zheng, Sociology/Anthropology, Cortland
Reconfigured Identities of Rural Migrant Hostesses in Urban China

4:50p-5:00p – Break

5:00p–6:00p - Keynote I
Jamie Winders, Geography, Syracuse University
Affective/Effective Borders? Disciplinary Boundaries and the Study of Migration

6:00p-7:00p Reception
8:30a - Registration and Light Breakfast

9:00a-10:50a - Panel III

Gallya Lahav, Political Science, Stony Brook
The Rise of Non-State Actors in Migration Regulation and the Decline of Civil Liberties in Europe and the US

Ricardo Larémont, Political Science and Sociology, Binghamton
Euro-American Foreign Policy, the Fall of the Qaddafi Regime, and the Consequences for Migration

Dael A Norwood, History, Binghamton
The Constitutional Crisis of Transnational Labor Migration in the Mid-19th Century United States

Shincha Park, Sociology, Binghamton
Nationality and Mobility of Stateless Koreans in Japan

10:50a-11a - Break

11a-12:15p: Keynote II

Esra Akcan, Architecture, Cornell University
Open Architecture and the Noncitizen

12:15p-1:15p: Lunch

1:15p-2:00p: Workshop on Geographical Information System (GIS) with Jay Newberry, Geography, Binghamton @ Old Johnson room 126

2:30p-3:50p: Panel IV

Sabina Perrino, Linguistics and Anthropology, Binghamton
Blurring Boundaries: Exclusion and Inclusion in Racialized Joke-Telling in Northern Italy

Kent F Schull, History, Binghamton
What’s my Homeland and Nationality Now? The Return of Ottoman POWs and "Enemy Aliens" after World War I

Alexander Caviedes, Politics and International Affairs, Fredonia
Convergence or Divergence in European Press Coverage of Immigration

3:50p-4:00p - Break

4:00p-5:30p - Panel V

Karen-edis Barzman, Art History, Binghamton
Borderlines and the Emergence of the Bounded State: A Genealogy

Daniel Levy, Sociology, Stony Brook,
Cosmopolitanized Solidarities and Migration

Takashi Nishiyama, History, Brockport
Doctors on Call: The Formation of Intellectual Migration and Culture for Japanese Empire
IASH extends thanks to:

The State University of New York Conversations in the Disciplines Program

The Binghamton University Citizenship, Rights, and Cultural Belonging Transdisciplinary Area of Excellence (CRCB-TAE)

Paulina Banas, Graduate Assistant, the Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities

Jon Mermelstein, Intern (CRCB-TAE)

Jonathan Lanz and Linda Pak, Volunteers