Explanation of Costs:

Please review the following information carefully.

Food and Housing

Graduate Students must secure off-campus housing. Cost of room and board off campus varies considerably according to the type of accommodations and personal eating habits.

See Reverse

Students may save a significant amount by sharing an apartment. Information on off-campus housing can be found online at <http://occ.binghamton.edu>.

The Office of International Education and Global Initiatives also has some information on housing availability. Students living off campus commonly report a cost of approximately $120-150 per week for food.

Many students opt to travel on weekends and breaks. The cost of travel and alternative housing during the breaks is not factored into this estimate of costs and should be considered by the student when determining a budget for personal expenses.

Health Insurance

The SUNY health insurance fee was $214 per month for 2023-2024. Insurance rates have risen considerably due to COVID-19. The costs given are the 2023-24 rate +5% estimated increase for 2024-25. The charge for the insurance will appear on your semester bill.

Fees

Fees covered by the exchange program include the regular semester billable fees. Some courses have a laboratory, equipment, activities, or supplies fee, which is the responsibility of the student. The New Student Fee is a one-time charge applied to every student and will be charged to your student account bill. It covers the cost of the mandatory orientation. The International Student Fee is charged to each international student each semester and covers the cost of administering the SEVIS immigration requirements at Binghamton.

Orientation

In addition to the Exchange welcome and orientation activities, incoming exchange students are required to attend the International Student and New Student Orientations, held by the office of International Student & Scholar Services and Student Affairs. The new student fee is $125 for all incoming graduate exchange students.

Pricing

Prices are based on the 2023-2024 academic year and are subject to change without notice.
