Students with documented long-term or permanent disabilities or serious medical conditions may request housing accommodations. To be eligible for housing accommodations the student must have a disability, and the disability must necessitate adjustments to the living environment.

Students requesting disability related housing accommodations should first go through the standard Residential Life housing process.

University Housing will make every effort to accommodate housing requests for students who acquire a disability or medical condition after room assignments are made; however, some accommodations may be limited by housing availability.

Information About the Student's Disability: (A person with a disability is defined as someone who has "a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities.")

1. What is the nature of the student's long term, permanent, or serious medical condition? Please provide pertinent background information related to the student's disability.

2. How is the student substantially limited by this disability such that it necessitates an adjustment(s) to the living environment?

3. How long have you been working with the student regarding this diagnosis?

4. Please describe specific symptoms that may be reduced by accommodative housing?

5. Is there a negative health impact that may be permanent if the specific request is not met?

6. Can you recommend alternate accommodations?

7. Is the student's disability permanent, temporary, or cyclical?

8. Does the request relate to housing adaption in the residence hall?
